FORMER CITY CLERK KILLS HIMSELF

Dorothy Ellingson Is Found Guilty of Manslaughter

SENTENCE WILL BE HANDED DOWN NEXT WEDNESDAY

Jury Deliberates 12 Hours And Takes Six Ballots To A Decision

DOROTHY COOL IN THE CRISIS

Jury Turns Down Both Insanity Verdict and Murder Judgment

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old girl, tried for the murder of her mother, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury of 7 women and 5 men who heard her case.

FOLLOWED REPRIMAND

The girl was charged with shooting and killing her mother following a reprimand against staying out late at night.

VERDICT AT 10:25

The verdict was returned at 10:25 o'clock, approximately 12 hours after the jury had retired to deliberate. The decision was reached ten minutes earlier. Judge Harold Londerbach had to be summoned from his home to receive the verdict. Joseph Eagle, foreman of the jury rendered the verdict.

SENTENCED WEDNESDAY

If all six ballots has been taken, it was learned after the jury had deliberated.

Sentence will be passed on Dorothy on Wednesday, August 26, Judge Londerbach announced when he adjourned court.

JUVENILE WARD

There is a possibility that the judge will commit the girl to some juvenile institution, although she may go to San Quentin penitentiary to serve a term not to exceed ten years. The court room was well filled when the verdict was read, but five minutes later it was completely empty.

DIVISION AT FIRST

On the first ballot the result stood for manslaughter 6; for first degree murder 1; for second degree murder 1; for acquittal by reason of insanity 4.

COOL IN VERDICT

Dorothy received the verdict cool. She started forward in her seat when the judge read the words: "We the jury find the defendant guilty of manslaughter."

Then she relaxed and a minute later was led away to the county jail.

KEYS' PICNIC DRAWS 7,000

Fully seven thousand men, women, and children, all of them "kids," romped, frolicked, danced and played at the second annual Key System employees picnic at East Shore park yesterday from almost daylight to midnight.

ATHLETICS MAIN FEATURE

Athletic contests were the feature of the day. They started promptly at 12 o'clock noon and continued until 6 o'clock. Then all the merry-makers went under the spreading trees, spread their basket supper, and partook of a picnic repast.

At 6:30 o'clock the baby symphony orchestra of the company rendered a concert that was well received. The prizes were distributed at 7:15 to all winners.

FEMININE STARS

One of the most amusing features of the day was the ladies' feature. In this event the participants had to run from one end of the course to the other, effect a change of clothing and return back to the finish. The winners were V. Fay, Irene Johnson and Ella Cronan.

PENNY SCRAMBLE

The little tots under 3 years of age were furnished a scramble for pennies during the early part of the evening.

Dancing occupied the evening until 12 o'clock. The orchestra of the Key employees provided the music for this affair.

Thomas Park Jacobs Ends Life With Revolver As Police Close In On Him

PIONEER RESIDENT OF RICHMOND AND CITY OFFICIAL HERE DIED RATHER THAN FACE CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT

A SUICIDE

T. Park Jacobs, former city clerk of Richmond, who took his own life last night as the police closed in on him at his Oakland home.

TOOK OWN LIFE WITH REVOLVER AT RESIDENCE

Contractor Chooses Death Rather Than Face Embezzlement Charge

Special to the Record-Herald OAKLAND, Aug. 22.—Cornered by the police, who were seeking him on a charge of embezzlement, Thomas Park Jacobs tonight committed suicide by shooting himself in the temple at his home in 385 June street.

Jacobs, known as "T. Park" in Richmond, Vallejo and Oakland, where he has many acquaintances, was charged with embezzling $710 from Charles H. O'Connor, an Oakland real estate man.

Jacobs resided for many years in Richmond, where he was at one time city clerk, and where he was a member of the McKinley lodge of Masons. He was a contractor. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Mabel Jacobs.

For a number of years Jacobs was in the real estate business in Richmond. Afterwards he went to Vallejo where he was engaged in the contracting and garbage business, and from there he moved to Los Angeles where he was connected with a street paving firm.

About six months ago he returned to the northern part of the state and located in this city.

CITY'S GROWTH INDICATED BY PHONE RECORD

Growth of the city of Richmond, as indicated by telephone installations, is shown by the figures released by the Pacific Telephone magazine, in the August issue.

The figures give Richmond a total of 3,389 stations July 1, as compared to 3,257 January 1, this year. This is a gain of 132 stations, or 4.05 per cent for the first six months of the year.

The foregoing figures are regarded as indicative of exceptionally rapid growth for a community, as population is supposed to grow at a faster rate than telephone stations.

The ball will be a replica of the "Days of '49," featuring the gold seekers with their picks and shovels, women in the shape of the Spanish duennas and the padres of the early California missions. Representatives from all Contra Costa county will attend the revel in the quaint old costumes of the pioneer days of the state.

The candidates for queen are: Mayme Crowley of Crockett, Betty Rountree, Hercules; Dolly Maths, San Pablo; Lucille Silvas, Pinole; Agnes Herman, Selby; Dorothy Marrow, Walnut Creek; Annabel Clark, Pinole and Marian Smith, Concord.

KU KLUX KLAN HOLDS GIANT CEREMONIAL

Klan Gives Same Ceremonial As That Held In The Lodgerooms

Special to the Record-Herald OAKLAND, Aug. 22.—This city was the scene of the highest order of the Ku Klux Klan tonight, as the big ceremonial of the northern part of the state was held at the Civic auditorium. Klansmen from as far south as Watsonville and as far north as Redding were present at the big event.

CROWD COMES EARLY

Long before 8 o'clock, the time set for the opening of the ceremonies the galleries of the monster auditorium and the side platforms were filled to capacity. It is estimated there were 15,000 spectators present.

FORMED FOR RITUAL

The main auditorium was occupied by the Klansmen, the Klanswomen, the Junior Klansmen and the Crusaders. They were all in robes and formed a hollow square four deep extending around the four sides of the big arena.

The spectacle presented was a most beautiful one and the ceremonies were very impressive.

It was impossible to estimate how many members of the organization were in robes, but the numbers would run up to several thousands.

GREAT TITAN RULES

The event was under the direction of Great Titan T. S. Moodle of Province No. 2, of northern California. The ceremonial was first opened by the drill teams from the Women of the Ku Klux Klan of Richmond and Oakland giving exhibition drills. The ladies were cheered to the echo.

MONSTER BAND

The monster band of the Oakland Klan then played several pieces of music, after the robed Klansmen marched into the arena and formed in the shape of a hollow square.

The officers of the ceremonial then took their places, the lights were dimmed, and amidst the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" over 1000 candidates marched in and took their places in the center of the hollow square.

CEREMONIES TYPICAL

In different parts of the big arena were large American flags and in the center of the auditorium was a monster fiery cross. Then the initiation ceremonies started, and were carried out in detail before the monster assemblage of spectators. One of the speakers stated that the ceremonies were identical with what was given candidates at the lodge room, even to the oath taken. The only thing the public were not given was the pass words and the personnel of the candidates.

Long after the ceremonies started thousands came to the auditorium but were turned away for lack of room.

Fire Chief Cooper Makes Good Showing

A strong bid for the Thomas H. Inch trophy, awarded yearly for proficiency in fire prevention, will be made by Fire Chief W. P. Cooper at the Pacific Coast association of Fire Chiefs at Seattle, September 21 to 25.

In Richmond for the past fiscal year, there was a loss of only 67 cents per capita. This is a decrease of 46.8 per cent since Chief Cooper has been in the department. The present system of fire prevention is given as the reason for the low loss.

VALUABLE STILL TAKEN BY COPS

Fifteen gallons of jackass, a high priced still, and several barrels of mash were the haul made by Chief of Police Dan Cox and a posse of local police on a raid on the home of Umberto Albionico, at 2445 Center avenue, Fullman district, yesterday afternoon.

The liquor and the still were removed to police headquarters as evidence. The officers easily disposed of the mash by saturating it with kerosene.

Albionico was released from custody upon posting of a $1000 bond. His case will be heard in Police Judge C. A. Odell's court on Monday.

Imbach and Paasch Lead Firemen Candidates

Out of the 47 men taking the examinations for positions on the Richmond Fire department, only 14 were able to pass the physical examinations conducted by Dr. C. R. Blake, and only four of those passed the tests conducted by Fire Chief W. P. Cooper.

Out of a possible 100 points, G. F. Imbach made the highest rating, with 85.2. R. A. Paasch was second with 84.2. James Wright and C. R. Carter were the other two passers with 79.95 and 76.2, respectively.

The former two will be recommended for positions by Chief Cooper and the latter two will be placed on the eligible list for emergencies.

TIP FROM FORMER PAL GIVES OFFICERS LEAD ON CONVICTS

(By Universal Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22.—The statewide hunt for the three convicts who escaped from the Salem penitentiary on August 12, after killing two guards and leaving the fourth member of their prison delivery plot on the ground, ended in the recapture today of all three of them without shedding a drop of blood.

MURRAY SURPRISED

Tom Murray, the most desperate and regarded as the brains of the trio was taken shortly after midnight this morning at Centralia, Washington, in a rooming house after police had been informed of his whereabouts by a pal he had met while beating his way on a train. Murray was armed with the same revolver with which he killed the two guards, but was taken and put in irons before he had a chance to offer resistance or attempt escape.

CAUGHT IN CANYON

The other two, Ellsworth Kelly and James Willos were captured this afternoon in a canyon near Goldenale, Wash. where they were tracked by officers from Portland. The men were eating lunch when four officers crept up the canyon behind them and commanded them to hold up their hands.

HAD PARTED

Murray and his two companions, it seems, had had a quarrel and decided to separate several days ago.

PLANNED HOLIDAYS. Murray's capture was brought about by Philip Carson, an idler who had been sentenced to thirty days in Portland but with a suspended sentence provided he left the city. It was on this excursion that he met and recognized Murray, whom he had known before. In a box car the two renewed acquaintances and planned a hold up in Centralia to provide getaway money. Carson pretended to agree to the plan.

BROUGHT OFFICERS. Leaving Murray in a hotel at Centralia he returned with three officers who made the arrest.

Carson promised to go out and get a third man to help in the stickup but instead brought back the three officers. Murray was taken completely by surprise, this only preventing a desperate struggle, as Murray had sworn never to be taken alive.

TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Murray has been taken back to Salem, and placed in solitary confinement. His trial for the murder of the two guards will follow as soon as authorities collect sufficient evidence.

Kelly and Willos are on their way to Portland and will be returned to the penitentiary tonight. They will also be tried on the charge of murdering the guards.

Bakery Salesman Falls From His Porch and Fractures Skull

Watt, a bakery salesman, dispelled the theory that no harm can come to a drunken man when, according to reports, he stumbled in an intoxicated condition from his back porch and fractured his skull in the fall. Death was practically instantaneous, according to the coroner's office.

Watt was a native of Ireland. He lived at 1195 Fifty-third avenue.

About 100 women made the excursion, 25 of them being from Richmond. Mrs. Carl Hansen had charge of the transportation arrangements for the Richmond women, who went in automobiles.

Hearing of Alleged Wife-Beater Delayed

As Saturday afternoon is a legal holiday, the case of Jerry Lanches, charged with battery on an alleged beating administered his wife, was not heard yesterday afternoon. The trial has been set in Justice John Roth's court by mistake. Lanches is in the city jail in lieu of $500 bail.

A TAX REPEAL BOMERANG

The plan to abolish federal estate taxes would in actual practice destroy the ability of states to levy inheritance taxes because of the competition which would develop between the states in the way of encouraging the repeal of state inheritance tax laws. This would encourage the migration of capital and capitalists from states which levy inheritance taxes to those which do not levy inheritance taxes. Also the repeal of the federal estate tax would deprive the federal government of its only means of securing revenue from tax-free securities now exempt under the federal income tax law.

There is no good reason why bankers, merchants, farmers and other business men should ask Congress to lay heavier tax burdens on themselves in order to afford relief to the estates of owners of tax-exempt securities which avoid taxation during the life of their owners.

"Big money rushes to tax-exempts as iron filings to a magnet." Large fortunes thus invested ought to pay estate taxes until the federal constitution is amended to permit taxation of their income during life of their owners.

One of the principal objections to inheritance taxes is the fact that such taxes are frequently levied on the same property by several different states as well as by the federal government. This multiple taxation would not be remedied except in a small degree by the repeal of federal estate taxes. This duplication can be very easily remedied by amending the federal law to provide that credit on federal estate taxes shall be given for all inheritance or estates taxes paid to states.

The federal law should also be amended in the interest of American business and agriculture by reducing federal estate taxes on all property on which the income is now subject to federal taxation and by leaving the federal estate tax on tax-free securities to stand higher than on those subject to federal income tax.

EVERYDAY PHILOSOPHY

Sunset magazine poses the question: "Are you a lawbreaker? Of course you are! How could you hope to obey all the laws passed by your city, your state, and your national congress? If you should employ the most able lawyer in the land to guide you he could not read fast enough to keep informed as to the new legislation and multiplicity of court decisions." Since we can't even hope to know what all the laws are it follows that we must violate many of them (says the magazine.)

Charles Alexander, editor of the Albany, Oregon, Democrat, poet, novelist, critic literary editor, says the truth is quiteable. Sunset has stated it, we have reached a state of mind where we must, by the terms of necessity, use our own discretion and be our own judges of what is proper and what is wrong. The fact that a thing is law no longer impresses us. "The man who craves a drink and can get it," says the magazine, feels no moral restraint. Tell him that he is a lawbreaker and he will laugh and cite instances to prove that you, too, are a lawbreaker." This is an indictment hrd to escape, says philosopher Alexander. It is a true indictment, one into which enters not alone the idle pomposity of American laws in trivial matters, but also the official lack of recognition of fundamental tendencies in the individual which make toward his decent treatment of his fellow citizen. Hear him further: "Take the traffic law. If forty miles an hour is needed to make the hill right ahead on high gear and the way is clear and safe, ninety-five per cent of drivers will speed to forty miles or more. It is a matter of their own judgment. A regard for fundamentals is the greatest attribute of any fundamentally free people, the enforcement of detailed regulations is a sign of the unfree serf.

"The more laws that are passed the less effective they will become." Truth is the middle ground, the no-man's-land where so few men ever venture. Law is good. Too little law is bad. Too much law is bad. A sensible amount of law is just right.

In America we have altogether too much law, and illustrations cited are merely examples of what obtains in a dozen other departments of daily endeavor.

EVERY TAX REDUCTION HELPS

About 9,000,000 persons make income tax returns. But 100,000,000 more Americans help make the money the 9,000,000 pay. None escape the tax. The government spends $10,000,000 a day. The people have to earn that money and pay it to the government. If federal economy causes a saving of $1,000,000 a day, the money saved will not be piled up to make a treasury surplus, but left in the hands of the people. Unfortunately, to a large extent, national government economies are offset by local government extravagances or bad management. But the fact that there is saving anywhere is cause for rejoicing. A cut in the income tax at least will save money to help pay local taxes—until they also may be reduced.

A president who works every day while on his vacation is a novelty that the people really like to witness.

New Color Fads Follow in the Wake of New Fashions for Autumn.

OF all the words in the dictionary those that apply to various colors and shades are—in our humble opinion—among the most interesting.

We may not be able fully to understand the psychology of color choices—why this year we wear dull grays and tans and blacks and that year the most vivid hues, why one year we wear soft pastel shades and another year only the rich deep colors of stained glass windows. But we can often gain quite an insight into a historical period by reviewing the colors then in fashion and most of all by the words used to describe them.

Nile green became popular after Napoleon's campaign in Egypt, magenta was applied to a coal-tar dye of particularly harsh, reddish purple that came into great vogue after the French whipped the Austrians in the Italian city of Magenta, sixty-six years ago. It was a very popular victory and it is easy to see why the new color was called in its honor, though it is difficult enough to see why such a harsh and generally unbecoming color as magenta ever enjoyed such high favor among fashionable women.

Some future generation may review the colors worn by us and find therein some clue to the understanding of the period in which we live. Among the colors which are spoken of at present "bois de rose" in its various gradations should be mentioned "first." "Black Prince" though introduced last year, is to be strong this autumn. This is named in honor of a rose—a very dark red rose much admired in France—and the color is included now among the rich, deep wine tones. Another wine tone that is spoken of for autumn is called currant. It is the color of the purple-black currant of France.

Just at present smart thoroughfares in this country are as brilliant with various shades of indigo blue as they were a few months earlier with shades of pansy purple. The pansy purple was overdone and cheapened past immediate restoration. This new deep, vibrant blue goes by a number of names. Some one calls it blue jay, another commander blue, another pencil blue and another royal blue. There really are subtle differences between these different blues, but they are all vivid and vibrant.

Apple green is a naive, simple sort of color that French dress-makers have stressed this summer, but with autumn will come more of the green called Veronese.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

PEARLS ON MONDAY

Monday being anciently associated with the moon is deemed the proper day for the wearing of moonstones. However, in the long list of lucky stones for different days of the week we find "opals and pearls" as well as moonstones for this day. So if you have no pearls, then wear opals, and if you have neither then you must get a moonstone, which is not at all expensive—if you wish to bring to yourself the good luck that comes from wearing the lucky stone for every day of the week.

Pearls have ever been regarded as symbolic of fidelity and chastity and would doubtless have been used more often for engagement rings if it were not for the fact that they are apt to loosen in their settings and the old saying is that it is extremely bad luck to have the stone in your engagement ring fall out or loosen. There is another saying about the pearl—that is should only be worn by a warm-blooded person—for if it is worn by a cold woman the spirit within will die and it will be colder than the cold woman who has worn it. But this applies only to the real gem. Anyone in the world can wear imitation pearls and apparently every one does at present.

Apparently it is all poppycock and nonsense about opals bringing bad luck. They are extremely lucky if you wear them on Monday. It may be that you are one of the women for whom they are lucky all the time. Opals like pearls really ought to be worn frequently because they lose their lustre when neglected.

According to Haydon cannons were invented by Swartz, a German artisan, who cast the first one, a very small piece, soon after the invention of gunpowder in 1330. The first use of cannon in warfare was at the battle of Cressy, August 26, 1346, when Edward III used four of the new weapons.

1 cup cream.
Cut the butter into the sifted dry ingredients. Mix in the cream. Roll out, cut and bake.

Stewed Tomatoes: Peel the tomatoes and cut into small pieces. Put into a stewpan and on the fire. Boil gently for twenty minutes or half an hour, counting from the time it begins to boil. Season five minutes before the cooking is finished. Allow for each quart of tomato one generous teaspoon each of salt and sugar and one tablespoon or more of butter.

Huckleberry Custard: Cook the berries and then rub through a fine sieve and then place in a mixing bowl: 1 cup huckleberry pulp, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon. Beat with the egg beater to thoroughly mix and then pour into well greased custard cups. Place the cups in a pan containing hot water and bake in a slow oven until firm in the center. Serve with a spoonful of marshmallow whip and some whole berries for a garnish.

THE LIMITED MAIL

by ELMER EVANCE

Novel by William Basil Courtney

"THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, is a pictorialization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Wilson, engineer of the freight, has gained the consent of Caroline Dale, waitress in the station lunch room to go picknicking with him the next day, so he has been eager and happy during this day's run. At night he receives orders to halt the train on a siding. While the train is waiting there the crew finds a corpulent tramp riding the bumpers and has difficulty in dragging him out. Bob is delighted to find it is "Professor" Potts, with whom he used to be a fellow-vagabond.

The tramp paused in the very act of a frantic scramble for freedom from the clutching hands of the hilarious brakemen. He turned, stared—and then the pained roundness of his face melted into proud and placid recognition of a friend at court.

"My dear Wilson, and—working! I need not tell you—this with a nervous shrinking toward Bob and away from the waving brakesticks, the gauntlet instruments of torture—that my great personal joy at encountering so soon a friend again is increased by the protection obviously to be had in your position of authority."

Unshamed, Bob threw his arms around Potts in a mutual demonstration of affection. The brakemen, grinning knowingly in remembrance of Bob's pre-railroad days, withdrew in deference to his signal that he wanted Potts spared the ignominy and cruel punishment of the dreaded "brakeman's gauntlet."

Arm in arm with Potts Bob strolled back toward his cab. The whistle of the "Limited" coming down the night breeze carried to both memories of old days together.

The fleeting picture of Jim looking down at him.

er; and to Potts' reflections it added a tinge of regret, for he said:

"Ah, my friend, the end of my active career has come." The professors patted his paunch wistfully for a moment before continuing; then, "You remember Spike's prediction that one day the increasing girth of my figure would interfere with my riding. That time has come, Bob—no longer can I successfully ride my beloved rods!"

Potts' actions and lugubrious words tickled Bob's risibilities, yet there was so much genuine pathos in Potts' manner that he refrained from laughter and preserved a sympathetic silence. Potts actually dashed a tear from his eye and stiffened his upper lip with a visible effort before concluding:

"I shall retire now, to live in the solace of Nature's splendour here in the mountains beside the tracks I love so well. I shall watch at the water tank on this siding for you, day by day, and always will be glad for an opportunity to exchange with you the philosophic salutations of gentlemen and scholars. And now, the Limited draws near—you will soon be on your way; I must be on mine at once, to reach the spot I have in mind. Therefore, adieu!"

Potts was gone now, into the trackside underbrush with the precision, if not the speed of a jackrabbit. Glowing with friendly feelings from the encounter, Bob santered to his cab and paused at the step to watch the high jinks of the milling, roistering party on the observation platform of the passenger special. Bob's fireman had remained behind to gossip with the brakemen, so Bob was alone at the head of the freight.

A quick, nervous little scream split the calm night air—and seemed to snap some tense thing inside Bob. He looked whence it had come, and observed a woman, whose back was turned, steadying herself by holding to the side of the observation car with one hand, while with her other hand she was holding up and rubbing one ankle, which she had evidently turned.

The Limited was close now and the woman, being on the trackside, was in a precarious position. Bob raced to her aid.

"Let me help you down to the rear of the car here, Madam—you'd get sucked under the Limited if you remained here—hurry!"

He picked her up and bore her swiftly to the safety of the space between the nose of the Limited and the tail of the special. Here, as he set her down, they looked into each other's face for the first time.

Recognition was mutual, instantaneous, and devastating.

"Bob!"

"My God—Jane!"

So this was the moment that all the uneasy promotions of the night had been whispering of to him. He reeled under the stark tragedy of a buried and unlovely past projected with demonical irony into the happier warp of a living present; on this day of all days when he had known the lovely promise of Caroline's friendship. A taste of bitter ashes dried his tongue in his mouth.

"Bob!" the woman was saying. "I've hunted for you five long years. I love you more than ever—and now I've found you!"

She flung her arms around his neck and showered him with kisses that he was too stupefied to resist. Was that screeching in his ears the Old Witch laughing at him?—no, it was the Limited, thundering by on the main track.

Bob, dully looking up at the Limited over the head of the woman, which was drooped upon his breast through her encircling arms, had a fleeting picture of an open mail car door and Jim standing there looking down at him for a fraction of time, scant but all too revealing in that pale flood of moonlight.

The picture brought Bob to his senses. Had Jim seen?

Bob pushed Jane from him in distaste and anger, and, turning, strode toward his cab. The slight pain of her twisted ankle forgotten, she followed, insistent; plying him with questions that he ignored; with protestations of love at which he laughed.

A curt summons from the observation platform recalled her. She went, reluctantly; there was nothing else for her to do, since Bob had mounted and disappeared into his cab and it was hardly possible for her to follow. The conductor of the special was calling to her:

"All aboard, Madam!"

He and one of the men from Jane's own boisterous party pulled her up to the observation platform. "Conductor," she breathed hard but low, "do you know the engineer of that freight train?"

"Yes ma'am, that's Bob Wilson. Do you know him?" curiously. Anything relating to the mystery behind Bob was enough to revive and pique the latent interest of all Grater City-ites.

"The Wilson, eh? Well—what you don't know won't hurt you, conductor."

In a huff the man withdrew into the now moving car. Jane was presently left alone on the platform with a single girl friend. The rest of their party had gone in to continue the merry-making.

"Yes—do you know him?" took up the girl, while Jane's eyes, glisty and cold, remained glued to the face that leaned out of the cab window of the big, slower moving freight, from which they were fast pulling away.

"I'll say I do!" said Jane, her brittle laugh matching the tune of the rails below. "How I've waited for this hour! And I'm going to see him again, you can bet—for that Bob is my Bob—my husband!"

CHAPTER VII

The morning of the following day dawned pearly clear; honeysuckle and woodbine paid first tribute to the pinal breeze, while flowering plants both tall and small quivered as the pickpocket touch of its fingers stole the dewy fragrance from their bepetalled altar pods—the beginning of a perfect lover's holiday.

(To be continued)

Among other reasons why we don't believe President Coolidge needs any advice on practical politics from us practical men are the facts that he was photographed loading shingles on a wheelbarrow in Plymouth, Vt., the other day and that he hasn't been photographed in a bathing suit at Swampscott, Mass.

Sing a song of six pence, a pocket full of rye, as the rum fleet gets chased away, the prices go sky high.

J. P. STROM GIVES POINTERS ON CONSTRUCTION OF HUDSON

A new four passenger brougham—a strikingly handsome car—is announced by the Hudson Motor Car Co. One of the new cars is now on display at the sales room of J. P. Strom, Hudson-Exsex, distributor.

The new car is a four-door, close coupled type, with leather rear quarters. The general lines are typical of Hudson construction and design. The whole effect is one of striking smartness and style.

ALL ALUMINUM
These cars are custom-built by one of the oldest and best known body manufacturers in the country, said Mr. Strom. "The construction is all-aluminum, and the details of trim and fittings are of the same material as the Hudson advance in the seven-passenger size. This car will be recognized at once as one of the handiest on the streets."

The outstanding feature however is that they are given a quantity price. Hudson-Exsex is now the largest six cylinder manufacturer in the world, and all its costs and manufacturing expenses are distributed over a very large volume of business. This fact has made possible the unusual price which Hudson has established on this car.

With its custom-built body and the advantages of the famous Super-Six chassis, this brougham will be one of the finest cars anywhere. It really must be seen to be appreciated in its fineness of details and its general impression of luxury and smart beauty.

BUSINESS SPEEDS UP

"The general volume of Hudson-Exsex business is at an unprecedented rate. This month will be the largest we ever have known, and it would be much larger if we had as many cars as the public asks us for. We are making every possible effort to deliver cars promptly, but the demand is so unusual that the task is almost beyond us."

"The public is looking for utility and value in motor cars, and when these qualities are offered as Hudson-Exsex offers them there is sure to be an immediate and a continuous, consistent demand."

A Four That Gives Things No Other Four Can Equal

CHRYSLER FOUR

The Touring Car - $ 895
The Club Coupe - 995
The Coach - 1045
The Sedan - 1095
F. O. B. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax.
Bodies by Fisher on all Chrysler enclosed models. All models equipped with balloon tires, hydraulic four-wheel brakes at slight extra cost.
We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Chrysler dealers and superior Chrysler service everywhere.

No other four but the Chrysler Four gives such a smooth flow of power, such sustained speed, such lightning pick-up and almost incredible fuel economy. This is the result of the same fine engineering which produced the phenomenal Chrysler Six.

In no other four is vibration so completely isolated. Chrysler Four smoothness is due to a floating platform spring which supports the front end of the motor and to live rubber bushings which insulate the rear motor bolts eliminating metal to metal contact—distinctive Chrysler design which keeps all vibration away from the frame and out of the body.
No other four has such high quality, or is built to such rigid precision standards and material specifications. More alloy steels are used in the Chrysler Four than in many cars which cost twice as much.
No other four presents the lithe and graceful appearance which is so individually Chrysler. There are many who acclaim it one of the two smartest cars ever built, regardless of price—and both are Chrysler.

No other four offers such roadability and riding ease because of the Chrysler principles of low center of gravity, correct distribution of weight and Chrysler spring suspension combined with balloon tires.
No other four is so safe because of the Chrysler hydraulic four-wheel brakes, which are optional at slight extra cost.
And, to cap the climax, no other four carries with it the same feeling of trust and confidence in its quality and craftsmanship. Because this Four is a product of Chrysler, and is as inevitably stamped with the Chrysler genius as its companion car, the Chrysler Six.
Come in—we are eager to demonstrate to you these and other matchless Chrysler Four advantages.

Chrysler Six—Phaeton, Coach, Roadster, Sedan, Royal Coupe, Brougham, Imperial and Crown-Imperial—attractively priced from $1395 to $2095, f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax.

WILL BARBER SHOP "NEXT" REVEALING OF LEXA 38

Is the welcome "Next" so long a familiar attribute of the American barber shop, about to disappear? In a new barber shop being opened in Franklin, Pa., the proprietor has put into effect a system long in use by dentists and other professional men, that of arranging appointments previously with customers. Instead of waiting their turn, his customers can now call him up by telephone and arrange for a hair cut, a shave, or a marcel wave as the case may be, for a given time so as not to be kept waiting.
